

Architect's villa in a secluded location with three independent guest flats and fantastic sea views in La Punta

La Punta

C- 3444

The finca is composed of four buildings arranged around a central square (patio).

From this space you enter the very large dining kitchen with balcony and fantastic sea view, as well as the three guest flats. From the kitchen-dining room, a staircase leads to the semi-basement with a spacious hallway with plenty of built-in wardrobes, a very large bedroom with floor-to-ceiling views. From the patio you also reach two guest flats, each with a bedroom, a walk-in wardrobe and small fridge and a daylight shower room, as well as the third, small guest flat, which has a shower room on the ground floor and small bedroom with 360-degree views on the upper floor. Tight, lacquered wooden windows with burglar-proof glazing and interior doors are of high quality (German production).

The living rooms in the semi-basement have solar hot-water underfloor heating, the guest flats 1 and 2 have gas outdoor wall stoves, the kitchen-living room has a wood-burning stove, although you will very rarely need the heating options given the good construction of the house and the low altitude of only approx. 430 m above sea level.

There is a thermo-solar system with gas support for heating water. All roofs are insulated. The beautifully landscaped grounds offer a pool enclosed by a wooden deck and a fantastic view of the sea and the mountains. The power supply is self-sufficient via a generously dimensioned photovoltaic system, secured by a very large dimensioned diesel generator, which is sound-absorbing and installed in a technic room which is also built in the mountain.

Overall, the house is in good condition, however, painting work should be carried out, the foil of the pool as well as the the very large
